Problem Statement

Current day receipts are cumbersome and excessive, in an age of technology. The resources alone, used to make the paper, the ink, and the technology to combine the two, all end up in the landfill. There is a better way to use what resources we have today, and begin scaling back on the excessive use of resources for one-time use products.